

- ALL THAT TICKS -

hydro power

HYT
H2

HYT's 'hydro mechanical' watches display the time using fluorescent, coloured water that moves slowly around a capillary tube. The water is contained in one reservoir, while another reservoir holds oil, with both reservoirs being linked to a pair of piston-driven bellows.

wound mechanical watch movement drives the bellows to push the unmixable fluids in opposite directions, with hours being indicated by the fluorescent water and minutes by a conventional hand. ●

www.hytwatches.com