HYT Watches - H1 Dracula DLC

Friday, August 08, 2014 | No comment

The fascinating H1 by HYT Watches, aka Hydro Mechanical Horologists, is now available in a new colour combination with a black DLC titanium case and a red fluorescent liquid to indicate the hour of the day.

It is easy to understand why HYT Watches has named this model H1 Dracula DLC. For an even easier association with the Transylvanian Count, the black alligator strap has red veins.

The case black DLC titanium case has brushed, shoot-peened and satin-finished surfaces with a red rubber-clad screw-lock crown. The H1 is an imposing timepiece with a diameter of 48.8 mm and a total thickness of 17.9 mm.

The technical features are the same of the H1 original model with a mechanical hand-wound HYT calibre beating at 28,800 vph and offering 65 hours of power reserve.
